

JOIN US FOR IP OSGOODE'S THIRD BRACING FOR IMPACT WEBINAR: AI'S DIRTY FOOTPRINT

28 June 2021 from 12pm - 1:30pm (EST)

This timely webinar will address the environmental implications of artificial intelligence (AI) developments in recent years. AI can be a double-edged sword, and while it can make resources and information more accessible and solve some of our climate challenges, it also requires more energy to use and, as a result, increases our carbon footprint.

The event, chaired by Prof Pina D'Agostino, will begin with welcoming remarks from York University VPRI Amir Asif and a keynote speech from the Ontario Minister of Environment, Conservation and Parks, the Hon. Jeff Yurek. Dr. Aviv Gaon, IDC Herzliya, will introduce and moderate the panel, which will include Andrea Roszell (Grindhouse), Audrey Lee (Microsoft), Kapil Singhal (Vyntelligence) and Neetika Sathe (Alectra's GRE&T Centre).

This webinar is organized by IP Osgoode in collaboration with the Harry Radzyner Law School at the IDC Herzliya in Israel, Microsoft Canada, and Alectra's GRE&T Centre.

Summarizing the 2021 Innovation Economy Council Roundtable

June 10, 2021 by Junghi Woo

The 2021 Innovation Economy Council ("IEC") Roundtable delivered an exciting discussion around the commercialization of intellectual property in Canada. IP rights can be incredibly important to a business' corporate strategy both during and after product development. Opening up a corporation's IP can even be advantageous in fields such as quantum computing.

Australia's Federal Court is "Not Gonna Cop It"

June 8, 2021 by Shawn Dhue

On April 30, Australia's Federal Court issued the highest damage award the country has ever seen for a copyright infringement. Australian billionaire and businessman turned politician, Clive Palmer, owes $1.5 million AUD to Universal Music Publishing Pty Ltd ("UMP") and Songs of Universal, Inc. ("Songs") for using an altered version of the iconic 1980s Twisted Sister song "We're Not Gonna Take It" (WNGTI) in his 2019 federal election campaign. Palmer's right-wing United Australia Party (UAP) slightly changed the lyrics of the hit song, under the title "Aussies Not Gonna Cop It" (ANGCI).

IP PICK OF THE WEEK

RCMP's use of facial recognition tech violated privacy laws, investigation finds

In March, the IPilogue published an article about the Privacy Commissioner's condemnation of Clearview AI for violating PIPEDA and various provincial privacy legislation across Canada. This week, Privacy Commissioner Daniel Therrien tabled a report concluding that the RCMP's use of Clearview AI technology infringes the Privacy Act. The software compiles images from across the Internet into a database which the RCMP has used for criminal investigations. However, the investigation found that most RCMP searchers did not account for how they used this technology. You can read Catherine Tunney's article about this for CBC here.
